Line Elevators Protest Barley Export Ruling

Protest has been lodged with the Government by the Line Elevator Companies against an order of the Food Administrator prohibiting export of barley below grade 3 C.W. in a wire forwarded to Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, by R. H. Lowson, President of The North-West Line Elevators Association. It is contended that the order is detrimental to western farmers as the order will result in farmers being denied the opportunity of obtaining the premium procurable for mailing barley.

Following is the wire sent to Mr Gardiner.

"Recent orders of Food Administrator prohibiting selection of barley grade 3 C.W., for export is extremely detrimental to producers' interests. Weather over west last few days has been very wet and will lower barley grades. Mailing types which ordinarily would qualify for top grades will now be lowered but shippers will still select these types for mailing purposes with payment of mailing premium. To prohibit the export of these types denies the producer the opportunity for mailing premium. Surely there are plenty of feed supplies in Canada without penalizing barley producers. We recommend Food Administrator be requested to reconsider his decision and govern his actions by developments after feed grains commence to move in volume."

Joe Citizen Says-

I'd surely like to pack my grip and start off somewhere on a trip. The family would like it too—this "staying put" the whole year through gets tiresome. Folks do like to range in pastures new and have a change. For health's sake there is none denies a holiday is often wise. Morale it certainly improves and gets us out of ruts and grooves. But this year home's the place for us—we all agreed without a fuss our wanderlust we would restrain and clutter up no crowded train. Besides the money we would spend on holidays we ought to lend to help to make the war-bond drive a success. And we'll all survive although we never see any more until the troops are safely home.

PERMANENTPalestine's
Output

The total industrial output of Palestine during 1943 was valued at 120 million dollars nearly one-half of which consisted of military supplies ordered by the British. The industrial output during 1940 was worth only 60 millions while in 1937 it was worth only 40 millions. It has tripled within six years.

WHY TUNISIA
WAS WON

A Major wrote home from Tunisia, saying: "At one time I was amused when I read about Bible-thumping generals. But, believe me that is what has won this battle. The Germans had a faith built upon the sands of the desert—a Nazi creed. Our lads have a faith built upon the rocks of Tunisia—a Christian faith. There could have been no other result."

A well-illustrated

Sermon

An early-morning bible claimed the lives of ten people in Hamilton, Canada's fifth city, in June. A soldier Private Clarence Lowe, saw it as an object lesson on the uncertainty of human life, and began preaching to a large section of the crowd that gathered to watch. With New Testament in hand, and wearing the uniform of his country, he stood before the crowd and fearfully preached the gospel. It was a well-illustrated sermon on the need of preparing for eternity while the opportunity is given.

America's Savior

Said Mayor Kelly, in endorsing the candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt for a fourth term: "I repeat what I said in 1940. The salvation of this country depends on one man."

One columnist (Rupert Hughes) reported to his newspaper syndicate: "It is all rather terrifying—the way they bow down to worship before a demigod, a man on whom alone the whole nation absolutely depends for its salvation."

Another newspaper reporter said: "It is a dangerous thing to put a man in the place of God. I remember from my mother's Bible comes from Christ, the impeccable Savior, not from man."

Groping In Darkness

According to The Alliance Weekly a wave of desire to probe the future is sweeping this country. One New York department store is selling as many as 400 Ouija Boards a day. The stores in Chicago cannot supply the demand for the boards. To many a Ouija board is nothing more than a divination game, but to some it is the doorway to intercourse with the powers of evil. The action of the Readers Digest in presenting recently to its millions of readers the history of Daniel's home, one of the successful mediums of the past century, is likely to give fresh impetus to the desire of the unscrupulous to probe the unknown.

Comic and Culture e

The comic magazine is one of the chief educational factors among American youth today. This fact is proved by a recent survey made by the Market Research Company, between the ages of 6 to 11 96 per cent of the boys read an average of 14 comic magazines each month and 94 per cent of the girls read 11. Between the ages of 12 to 17, 80 per cent of the boys and girls read 12 comic magazines a month. In the 18 to 30 age group 53 per cent of the men read 7 comic magazines a month, while 43 per cent of the women read 9. The comic magazine is much more popular than the Bible.

A New Lost
GENERATION

J. Edgar Hoover says: "I am not easily shocked or alarmed. But today like thousands of others, I am both shocked and alarmed. The arrests of ten-year boys and girls are staggering. This country is in a deadly peril. We can win this war and still lose our freedom for all in America. For a creeping rot of moral deterioration is eating into our nation, symptomatic of a condition which threatens a new lost generation more hopelessly lost than any that has gone before."

Whether or not the rising generation will be a lost generation depends on the response of the church of the Lord Jesus Christ to the challenge of the times.

A Just and Durable Peace

The Librarian of Congress, Archibald MacLachlan, made an interesting statement in an address in New York City. He said: "The peace we see to be making will be a peace of oil, a peace of gold, a peace of shipping a peace in brief of actual situations, a peace without purpose or human intent, a peace of dicker and trade about facts of commerce, the facts of banking the facts of transportation which will lead us where the treasures always led us."

Venereal
Diseases
Spreading

The City Health Officer of Los Angeles, Calif. George M. Uhl reported recently that the number of cases of venereal disease on record in that city in 1942-43 was fifteen times greater than in the war years of 1917-18. Although the population is only three times as great. An average of over 280 cases were reported to his office every week. A total of 19,760 instances of syphilis and 9,375 of gonorrhea were reported to his office in 1942-43 and this applies only to the civilian pop., cases treated by the military medical corps are not included. The land is becoming a Sodom and Gomorrah. Surely the coming of the Lord draweth nigh.

THE TONE OF VOICE

It is not so much what you say,
As the manner in which you say it:
It is not so much the language you use,
As the tone in which you convey it.
"Come here!" I sharply said,
And the baby covered and wept.
"Come here!" I cooed; he looked and smiled
And straight to my lap he crept.
The words may be mild and fair,
And the tone may pierce like a dart;
The words may be soft as the summer air,
And the tones may break the heart.
Whether you know it or not,
Whether you mean or care:
Gentleness, kindness, love and hate,
Envy and anger are there.
Then would you quarrels avoid,
And in peace may find relief;
Keep anger not only out of your words,
But keep it out of your voice.

CHANGE

We live upon rough surface of a globe that is continually undergoing a change in every phase of life.

In the field of transportation we have, since the turn of the century, witnessed the rapid change of modes of travel go from the highway to the sky-way. As children we went to the seaport to watch the ships come in, and now we go to the airport to watch the planes come down.

In the political world we have during the past few years seen democracies give way to dictatorships and kingdoms rise and fall. Our methods of education, our ideas in business, our use of medicines, our styles and customs are being constantly revised and continually changed.

But sin has not changed. Men have endeavored to change its name. They have denied the fact of sin, have excused the effects of sin and deliberately refused the remedy for sin.

The results of sin have not changed. The wages of sin have never been changed. Sin ends in disgrace, disappointment, defeat and death just as much today as it ever did.

Sorrow has not changed. Most of the days of the past year were gray instead of gay. Sorrow is just as real today as it was yesterday.

Death has not changed. The color of blood has not changed from black to gray. The hearse, the order of service, the method of burial have all been changed in an effort to make death attractive to eliminate the fact of reality. But death is real. Death is cruel. And certain. And sure.

The wise man always prepares for the inevitable. It is the part of wisdom to seek that which will deliver from the penalty of an evil victory over grief, and take away the fear of death.

The Lord Jesus Christ meets every need and requirement that the heart of man desires.

He alone can settle the sin question. It was He who "was manifest to take away our sins" (1 John 3:5). And it is Jesus, the Son of God who died to deliver us from the penalty of sin, and who lives to deliver us from the power the very presence of sin.

The way of salvation has not changed. We have a changeless Saviour in the midst of a changing world. He is forever the same, yesterday and today and forever.

God's offer of eternal life to all who will receive the Lord Jesus as Saviour is still the same. It has never been recalled or altered. As always, the word of God reads: "If thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved."

From Sinai
To Calvary

A thrilling story of a Jewish youngster who was taught to hate Jesus and how he became a disciple of a believer in Christ. Related by him, self.

We believe that every one who starts to read this story will continue to look forward for the next issue.

By Abraham Silverstein

And while I had really no time to think or meditate upon this subject which later was to become the most vital thing in my life, I was nevertheless dominated by the compelling thought of whether my mother and my people or the little red book, was right.

During the day, a young man came to look for a furnished room. There were several vacant, and he selected one most suited to his liking.

When a new roomer took possession of and deposited his belongings in his room, I had acquired the habit of entering and examining the little things which he usually placed on the stands, such as hairbrushes, photographs, comb toilet articles, etc. These rooms my world during two entire weeks with no money given me to sit still through the streets and look in to shop windows. And it always was a relief to go into rooms where new people came and I viewed all the time and handle their articles and examine the strange objects belonging to American people.

This young man happened to be a student, and had books. I burned to see these books and watched for hours, while working for the departure of the new roomer. At last, towards noon, I saw him leave the house and I hastened up. There beside the bed, on a little stand were two volumes, I had never in all my life seen such binding before. Beautiful, solid black leather binding constituted the cover of a book made up of the softest and thinnest paper I had ever seen. Curiously, I read over the volume and felt for it. It was so soft and flexible and yielding, I bent it and twisted it and straightened it, and there was a fascination about the very binding of the book which so greatly appealed to me that it was difficult to let go of it.

I opened the book and to my very great delight, it was just the beautiful large German type. Yes, it was a German Book and the first thing I read was the story of Abraham offering up his son Isaac as a living sacrifice to God. This story was one of my favorites in the old Bible. Indeed, this book was the Bible printed in the German language.

It was dinner time but I quickly excused myself from the table in order to spend the time in the student's room with his beautiful book. While reading a few verses I noticed that at the end of many of the verses there were printed abbreviations and numbers. This puzzled me and I determined to ask someone, perhaps the new roomer himself, what these meant. After lunch when I went downstairs again to continue my work, I told my landlady of the books upstairs and incidentally mentioned the abbreviations and numbers found at the end of the verses in that Bible.

"These," she said "are what we call references. For instance if it says Matt. that means Matthew and the first number is the chapter while the next is that of the verse in that chapter. It means that you must look up a reference in the New Testament."

I remember that, and determined that at my next opportunity I would compare these references and look them up in my little red book.

This proved an interesting game for the space of two weeks. Henceforth, I felt no longer lonesome; I had something to do which greatly ly interested me and held me spell-bound. Every moment I could steal away from the arduous duties imposed upon me was spent in that room, I had found difficulties to accomplish this. When I happened to be free, the roomer was in and I could not get into the room, it would not do, of course for a student-keeper like myself to go up and say to the German student, "My friend, I am interested in your books and will you permit me to read them while you are here?" And when he was out, I could not go in as often just at that time I had to be with my landlady and either work under her supervision or else listen to one of her many lectures on how not to do the very thing I was doing. It therefore depended entirely upon whether I had the time and opportunity and whether the roomer was out at the same time.

But a wonderful game it was to me, whenever I did have a chance to read the Old Testament and to have to look up references in the New.

Without any plan or intention I decided to start in the part of the Bible where most references were to be found, I saw the greatest proportion of small-type references in the Prophet Isaiah, and began there systematically to go through each chapter.

At first it was just a game. But as I progressed and advanced and finally came to the seventh chapter, I struck the fourteenth verse where it speaks of the Jewish Messiah coming through a virgin. When I read that verse in the Old Testament I closed my eyes and tried to repeat it in original Hebrew, because it sounded strange to me. It seemed to me as though I had never read this verse before. Isaiah, I figured, must have lived around six or seven hundred years before this Jesus was born and here he predicts that the Messiah if he came must appear through a virgin.

And at the end of the verse the reference pointed me to the New Testament where apparently this prophecy was fulfilled and established the fact that it was Jesus whom this prophet was speaking.

It did make me think. For the first time since I became acquainted with the New Testament I began to doubt the accusations against Jesus with which I had been filled.

BIBLE QUESTIONS ANSWERED BY THE VOICE OF PROPHECY
INTERNATIONAL BIBLE SOCIETY

Question—I am interested in my salvation but am a little confused. Where can I find help?
Answer—Read the Scriptures reverently and you will find help. "And that from a child thou hast known the Holy Scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus." 2 Timothy 3:15.

Q.—Do you think that such a great country as China would be mentioned in the Bible.
A.—More human greatness does not necessarily entitle a person or a nation to a place in the Bible, but it is believed by some scholars that "the land of Silem" mentioned in Isaiah 49:12 is China.

Q.—Do you consider the Old Testament to be inspired as well as the New Testament?

A.—All scripture is profitable by inspiration of God, and is given by the Spirit of God, for correction, for instruction in righteousness. 2 Timothy 3:16.

Q.—There are some things in the Bible I don't understand, so why should I read it?
A.—There are some things that none of us know about digestion, so why should we eat—things we do not understand about electricity, why turn on the light—and there are things we cannot explain about the brain, so why not stop thinking? God's two books, Nature and the Holy Bible, because of their divine origin, contain things hard for our limited minds to understand. And that is one proof that both are from God. There is enough that is clearly revealed in these two books to keep us busy for a long time, so let us keep on reading and eating and thinking and turning on the light. "The secret things belong unto the Lord our God: but those things which are revealed belong unto us and to our children for ever." Deuteronomy 29:28.

Q.—Since the writings of the Old Testament are just history, why are they in the Bible?
A.—True, they include history, but much more also. These ancient prophets actually wrote of the salvation and grace and sufferings of Christ. We read this in 1 Peter 1:10: "Receiving the end of your faith, the salvation which was before you, the prophets who prophesied of the grace that should come unto you, the Spirit of Christ which was in them did signify, when it testified beforehand the sufferings of Christ, and the glory that should follow." This shows that all the Old Testament was designed, as well as of the New, were dictated by the Spirit of Christ and so therefore designed to be studied by the Christian.

about the things you buy in wartime

Milk IS NOT ELASTIC

Milk is our most valuable food. It must provide us with milk to drink, with butter, cheese, evaporated and concentrated milk and a score of other products.

Canadian farmers have done a magnificent job. They have increased milk production in 1943 by more than 540 million quarts over 1938. They have done this in the face of a 25% reduction in farm help, equipment shortages, and the fact that it takes two to three years to bring a calf into milk production.

The production of milk and milk products in Canada has achieved a notable record. Careful planning makes the best use of every quart. But we must recognize the conditions that in these times we all can't get all we want.

Chas. H. Winters
Winters Price & Trade Board

WHAT HAPPENS TO ALL THIS MILK?

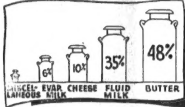

In spite of greater production, the demand for milk and milk products has risen even more, because—

(a) There's more money to spend;

(b) More people are working, with changed food habits and increased food needs;

(c) Our Armed Forces and Allies make heavy demands.

It has therefore been necessary by rationing, by subsidies, by careful planning and by various methods to divert our milk supply into channels most suited to our various food needs.

FLUID MILK TAKES 48% OF OUR MILK

Because fluid milk is regarded by nutritionists as the most nearly perfect food, pooling has been allowed to interfere with its sale. Today, Canadians are drinking more milk and a greater percentage of our milk supply is being consumed as fluid milk—cheese, butter, and so on. Fluid milk has the right of way, but don't waste a drop of it.

BUTTER TAKES 35% OF OUR MILK

In the first three years of war, our butter consumption increased 103%. So, rationing was established to prevent too much milk going into butter, at the expense of other important milk products, and to insure a fair share to everyone.

The rationing of butter was influenced by the fact that it has less nutritive value than most other milk products, and because we get a generous supply of fats or their food equivalent in other forms.

To maintain a proper balance of consumption between various milk products and to ensure that butter is put into storage for winter use—when production drops—it is necessary to reduce the ration from time to time.

CHEESE TAKES 10% OF OUR MILK

Canada's annual cheese production has gone up by about 37 million pounds since the war.

Cheese is a concentrated food product—easily shipped and stored. That is one reason why we send large quantities to Great Britain to help meet its pressing food needs. While in the last year we exported four of every five pounds of cheese we made, our production has been so increased that we have left for domestic use about three million pounds a year more than before the war.

EVAPORATED MILK TAKES 6% OF OUR MILK

More than twice as much (152 million lbs.) was used by Canadians this last year as in 1938 (73 million lbs.). And yet, there has not been enough.

Where has it all gone? It's an important food for babies—and there are 50,000 more of them a year. Larger quantities have to be sent abroad for our exports of evaporated milk to Great Britain, Newfoundland and the West Indies, etc., are maintained at pre-war levels.

ICE CREAM AND OTHER MILK PRODUCTS TAKE ABOUT 15% OF OUR MILK

The manufacture of ice cream is restricted to the 1941 level because milk is needed for other purposes.

Federal Issues

Will Favor Mackenzie King

Federal issues in the next general election will include attendance of Prime Minister King at the gov't to carry out its comprehensive social and economic reforms and the war administration of the present government. It is believed here that these will make a stronger appeal to the electorate than the provincial Liberal platforms. The forward looking gov't foreign trade policy will be strongly supported on the Prairies. For these reasons it is certain that the Liberals will do better federally, especially in Ontario, Sask, Alberta and Quebec than they did in the provincial elections.

Hopes Collapse

Though they have scored some successes provincially during the last year, the claim of the CCF to being a national political organization is pretty well dispelled by more recent provincial elections. In the last three of these, Quebec, New Brunswick and Alberta, they won a total of only three seats—two in Alberta and one in Quebec. They have managed to elect no members at all to the New Brunswick or P.E.I. legislatures. On the basis of the year's elections, however, they remain the chief rival to the Liberals party. It looks more and more as though the people of Canada in the next election will have the choice of re-electing the King government or turning to socialism under the CCF.

Choice Liberals Or Socialism

The Liberal claim that it is now the only really national political party in Canada is borne out by recent provincial voting. In the last four provincial elections, Sask, Quebec, New Brunswick and Alberta only 12 P.C. members have been elected. In three provincial legislatures, Sask, Quebec and Alberta with a total of 181 ridings, the Progressive Conservatives have not been able to elect a single member. They have not secured a majority in a single province. In the opinion of close observers in Ottawa, the New Brunswick returns indicate definitely that the real battle in the next national election will be between the Liberals and the CCF.

Reform Plans

Win Approval For Liberals

The federal political outlook assumed more solid shape following the sweeping victory of the Liberal government of Premier J. B. McNeil in New Brunswick.

The administration there was returned with 35 seats seven more than in the 1939 provincial election, while the P.C. elected only 12 members and the CCF failed to capture a single seat. The results were bitterly disappointing to the P.C., who considered the Maritimes good ground for gains. The setback given

Six Elections

Give Liberals Lead

The New Brunswick results put the Liberal party far in the lead in prospects for the next federal election, on the basis of results of the six provincial elections held during the past year. In these the Liberals have elected 113 members the Socialists 84 and the PC 59.

"GEE! HE'S A G.S. SOLDIER!"

See that G.S. badge on his arm? That means he's volunteered to fight anywhere in the world.

The Army needs more men like him—men who can take it—men with the courage to fight, so that their home, their loved ones—everything they cherish—may be free.

For this War is not over yet—we still have a lot of fighting to do. And our boys who are fighting over there will need the help of every red-blooded Canadian who is fit to fight, and willing to fight.

It will take months of thorough training to make you fighting-fit. That's why Canada's Army needs you NOW—and needs you for overseas service.
